

SHELBY WHITE & LEON LEVY ARCHIVAL ASSISTANCE GRANTS INITIATIVE

2025 Grant Application

OVERVIEW

In keeping with our mission to document, preserve, and celebrate the history of historic preservation in New York City, the New York Preservation Archive Project established the Shelby White & Leon Levy Archival Assistance Grants Initiative to help historic preservation-related not-for-profit organizations and similar institutions identify and maintain their archival resources related to stories of historic preservation. Generous assistance from the Leon Levy Foundation in 2022 allowed the Initiative to be reinvigorated for three additional rounds of grants. In 2025, the Archive Project received additional support from the Leon Levy Foundation to continue the grant through 2027.

The Archive Project and the Leon Levy Foundation hope to promote the importance of safeguarding archival records and support those working in New York City's civic preservation sector. Applicants must demonstrate their project or collection's significance to the story of historic preservation in New York City. Applications from all five boroughs are welcome. Archives that document New York City history but do not tell a historic preservation story do not fall within the qualifications of this grant program.

Grants awarded by the Shelby White and Leon Levy Archival Assistance Grants Initiative do not require a matching grant. Applying through a fiscal sponsor is permitted.

SCOPE

Projects and expenses may include but are not limited to:

- hiring an archival consultant
- creating an archival policy
- performing a survey of archival collections
- creating collection inventories and finding aids
- collections processing
- purchasing archival supplies and materials
- increasing public accessibility to collections
- scanning and digitization
- creation of new management strategies for operational records

Preservation-related collections may focus on themes including but not limited to:

- landmarking & National Register listing efforts
- preservation policy work
- grassroots efforts to save community sites
- institutional history of preservation organizations
- contributions of prominent preservationists
- work to preserve, restore, or rehabilitate historic resources

GRANT PERIOD: All projects must be completed with a standardized report submitted by November 1, 2026.

INQUIRIES: Please contact Executive Director Emily Kahn at info@nypap.org. We encourage prospective applicants to contact us about any questions, including eligibility and whether your proposed project falls within our grant guidelines.

ABOUT THE FUNDERS

The New York Preservation Archive Project is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to documenting, preserving, and celebrating the story of historic preservation in New York City. Recognizing the importance of this history to the continued health, success, and growth of preservation in our city, the Archive Project brings these stories to light through public programs, oral histories, and public access to information.

The Leon Levy Foundation's Archives and Catalogues Program helps humanities and conservation organizations to catalog, preserve, digitize and help build archives and digital archives to provide critical access to information, documents, letters, photos, correspondence, printed and oral accounts, music, video and countless other treasures in their collections.
